SUBJECT: Staff Report
17-03-CD, Forrest McDonald v. Alaska Democratic Party

SUMMARY OF COMPLAINT

On October 26, 2017, Forrest McDonald (McDonald) filed a complaint against the Alaska Democratic Party (“the Party”).¹ McDonald alleges the Party violated AS 15.13 by using a third-party conduit (Ship Creek Group) to obscure the true source of non-monetary contributions to certain candidates who utilized the services of Ship Creek Group (“Ship Creek”).

McDonald contends the Party provided Ship Creek (a political consulting firm) access to its data service known as Votebuilder either for free or for less than fair market value and that several of Ship Creek’s candidate clients thereby obtained access to a valuable data service provided by the Party, not by Ship Creek.²

McDonald argues that the data service provided to several candidate clients by Ship Creek amounted to unreported non-monetary contributions from the Party to the candidate client.

SUMMARY OF RESPONSE TO COMPLAINT

The Party filed a timely Response to the Complaint on November 13, 2017.³ In the Response, the Party contends that Ship Creek has never been granted access to the Votebuilder service other than for its candidate clients who purchased the service from the Party for their district.

FACTS

1. Votebuilder

Votebuilder is a data service proprietary to the Party.⁴ The Party provides the service to candidates for State House and Senate as part of a campaign package it calls the “Coordinated Campaign,”⁵ State House candidates pay $2,000 and Senate candidates pay $4,000 for the Coordinated Campaign package.⁶ For these state legislative candidates, Votebuilder is only available as a part of the Coordinated Campaign package – it is not available separately.⁷

Non-Democrats, except Republicans in partisan races, may be granted access to Votebuilder through the Party’s “Voter File Sales Procedure.”⁸

Municipal and local candidates may purchase access to Votebuilder by purchasing either basic access or full access.⁹ Candidates for Municipality of Anchorage Assembly would pay $1,000 for basic access and $2,000 for full access during the 2016 campaign.¹⁰

Anyone who purchases access to Votebuilder either through the Coordinated Campaign or separately must sign a Terms of Service Agreement.¹¹ Pursuant to the Agreement, the purchaser is licensed and has access solely to the portion of Votebuilder encompassed by the district in which he or she is a candidate.¹²

2. The Candidates

McDonald alleges that four State House and two Anchorage Municipal candidates who hired Ship Creek for consulting received a non-monetary contribution of the Votebuilder data service from the Party, through Ship Creek.¹³

McDonald bases his allegation on the facts that Ship Creek once purchased access to Votebuilder in 2015; the purchase of the service by those candidates is not disclosed on the Party's APOC reports; and Ship Creek includes Votebuilder in its Proposed Startup Budget.¹⁴

A. Representative Delena Johnson

Representative Johnson hired Ship Creek as a consultant for her 2016 campaign.¹⁵ Representative Johnson is a Republican. Ship Creek did not have access to Votebuilder for Representative Johnson's district nor did it discuss Votebuilder access with Representative Johnson.¹⁶ Representative Johnson denies using data from Ship Creek.¹⁷ The Party does not provide Votebuilder access to Republicans in partisan races.¹⁸

B. Representative Gary Knopp

Representative Gary Knopp hired Ship Creek for specific functions as opposed to a continuing consultancy in his 2016 campaign.¹⁹ Representative Knopp is a Republican. Ship Creek did not have access to Votebuilder for Representative Knopp's district nor did it discuss Votebuilder access with Representative Knopp.²⁰ Representative Knopp denies receiving any database from Ship Creek.²¹ The Party does not provide Votebuilder access to Republicans in partisan races.²²

²² Ex. 4; Ex. 2 at p. 4.

C. Representative Jason Grenn

Representative Grenn hired Ship Creek as a consultant for his 2016 campaign.²³ Representative Grenn is not affiliated with a political party. The Party offered Representative Grenn the opportunity to participate in the Coordinated Campaign and thereby gain access to Votebuilder, but the Grenn campaign declined to participate.²⁴ Ship Creek did not have access to Votebuilder for Representative Grenn's district.²⁵ Representative Grenn denies receiving access to Votebuilder during his campaign.²⁶

D. Representative Adam Wool

Representative Wool hired Ship Creek as a consultant in his 2016 campaign.²⁷ Representative Wool is a Democrat. Representative Wool participated in the Coordinated Campaign and thereby had access to Votebuilder for his district.²⁸

E. Assemblyman Forrest Dunbar

Assemblyman Dunbar hired Ship Creek as a consultant for his 2016 campaign.²⁹ Assemblyman Dunbar purchased access to Votebuilder for his district with payment of $2,000.³⁰ Assemblyman Dunbar's payment amount is consistent with the established price set by the Party for full access to Votebuilder for his district.³¹

F. Assemblyman John Weddleton

Assemblyman Weddleton hired Ship Creek as a consultant for his 2016 campaign.³² Ship Creek purchased access to Votebuilder for Assemblyman Weddleton's district in October 2015 with payment of $2,000.³³ Ship Creek's payment amount is consistent with the established price set by the Party for full access to Votebuilder for Assemblyman Weddleton's district.³⁴

LAW AND ANALYSIS

In the Complaint, McDonald correctly points out that some Ship Creek clients disclosed payment for the Coordinated Campaign and others did not. He alleged that the Party provided Ship Creek with the Votebuilder data service that could be used for all its clients. McDonald provided an exhibit that shows the Party reported that Ship Creek had paid $2,000 for Votebuilder access on October 7, 2015. McDonald accurately points out that $2,000 for access for all clients is grossly undervalued.

A person or group may not contribute anonymously, using a fictitious name or using the name of another.³⁵ Contributions must be made in the name of the true source of the thing of value.³⁶ A person may not use a third-party conduit to obscure the true source of the thing of value.³⁷

If the Party granted Ship Creek access to Votebuilder to use for all its clients at less than fair market value, then Ship Creek's use of the service for a client who did not pay for it would, as McDonald alleges, amount to a non-monetary contribution from the Party to the client; and the Party's use of Ship Creek to provide that benefit would further amount to the use of a third-party conduit to obscure the true source of the benefit to the client's campaign.

1. Candidates/Clients Johnson And Knopp

Candidates Johnson and Knopp are both Republicans. The Party, Ship Creek, and the candidates themselves all deny that the Party granted them or Ship Creek Votebuilder access for their districts. Under these circumstances, staff believes there is insufficient evidence to conclude that Representatives Johnson and Knopp received a non-monetary contribution of Votebuilder access from the Party.

³⁴ Ex. 3.

³⁵ AS 15.13.074(b).

³⁶ 2 AAC 50.258(a).

2. Candidate/Client Grenn

Candidate Grenn ran as an Independent. The Party, Ship Creek, and the candidate himself all deny that the Party granted him or Ship Creek Votebuilder access for his district. Under these circumstances, staff believes that there is insufficient evidence to conclude that Representative Grenn received a non-monetary contribution of Votebuilder access from the Party.

3. Candidate/Client Wool

Representative Wool is a Democrat. He was eligible to, and did, participate in the Coordinated Campaign. Purchase of the Coordinated Campaign includes access to Votebuilder. Under these circumstances staff believes there is insufficient evidence to conclude that Representative Wool received a non-monetary contribution of Votebuilder access from the Party.

4. Candidates/Clients Dunbar And Weddleton

Candidates Dunbar and Weddleton were municipal candidates in non-partisan races. As such they could, and did, purchase access to Votebuilder for their districts.³⁸ The Party, Ship Creek, and the candidates all agree that Votebuilder access was purchased for their districts. Under these circumstances staff believes that there is insufficient evidence to conclude that candidates Dunbar and Weddleton received a non-monetary contribution of access to Votebuilder from the Party.

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION

The crux of the Complaint is that the Party used Ship Creek as a third-party conduit to provide non-monetary contributions of Votebuilder access to Ship Creek clients. But the evidence shows that no contributions were made. In the case of the Republican and Independent candidates, access was never granted. In the case of the Democratic and ³⁸ Candidate Dunbar's campaign purchased access to Votebuilder and reported it on the campaign's 30 Day Report. Ex. 15 at p. 11. Candidate Weddleton, however, obtained access to Votebuilder through his consultants, Ship Creek, who purchased it and then billed Weddleton. Ex. 2 at p. 3, ¶ E and p. 5; Ex. 17. In completing his APOC reports, candidate Weddleton did not sufficiently describe all the services provided by Ship Creek, so there is no specific transaction that describes his purchase of the Votebuilder access. Ex. 16 at pp.6-7.

Municipal candidates, the evidence shows that access was paid for at fair market value. Accordingly, staff recommends that the Complaint be dismissed.

Summary of Alleged Violations of Campaign Disclosure Law by the Alaskan Democratic Party

The facts:

- a. The Alaskan Democratic Party owns access to a data service known as "votebuilder."
- b. Access to "votebuilder" is only possible upon paying the candidate buy in to "the coordinated campaign."
- c. This service costs $1,000 for a municipal race, $2,000 for a state house race, $4,000 for a state senate race, and $25,000 for a statewide campaign.
- d. "Votebuilder" access is strictly limited to coordinated campaign members, limited access or individual mailing lists are not available for purchase.
- e. The Democratic Party has an undisclosed relationship to "Ship Creek Group." No APOC transaction history between the Democratic Party and "Ship Creek Group" has been disclosed to pay for votebuilder access. One transaction is disclosed in FEC filings, but that transaction from October 2015 is insufficient to explain the goods and services received.
- f. Ship Creek Group has been providing "votebuilder" data owned by the Democratic Party to candidates and campaigns which have not paid the "coordinated campaign buy in fee" and have not legally disclosed the purchase of access to that data from the party.
- g. Some candidates using Ship Creek Management services paid the fee while others did not, possibly to avoid disclosing coordination with the Alaskan Democratic Party.

Alaska Statutes

Sec. 15.13.400. Definitions.

(4) "contribution"

(A) means a purchase, payment, promise or obligation to pay, loan or loan guarantee, deposit or gift of money, goods, or services for which charge is ordinarily made, and includes the payment by a person other than a candidate or political party, or compensation for the personal services of another person, that is rendered to the candidate or political party, and that is made for the purpose of

(i) influencing the nomination or election of a candidate

List of candidates and Ship Creek Clients involved:

1. Eric Croft - Paid data access fee in full $1,000

2. DeLena Johnson - did not pay for data access valued at $2,000
3. Dean Westlake - Paid data access fee in full $2,000
4. Forrest Dunbar - did not pay for data access valued at $1,000
5. Gary Knopp - did not pay for data access valued at $2,000
6. Ivy Spohnholz - Paid data access fee in full $2,000
7. Jason Grenn - did not pay for data access valued at $2,000
8. Adam Wool - did not pay for data access valued at $2,000
9. John Weddleton - did not pay for data access valued at $1,000
10. Zach Fansler - Paid data access fee in full $2,000

Evidence

- A. Alaska Democratic Party Campaign disclosure statements between Feb 2015 and Sept 2017 showing that some Ship Creek clients disclosed payment for coordinated campaign data service while others did not. No transactions between Ship Creek Group and the Alaskan Democratic Party to pay for data service were disclosed to APOC.
- B. Ship Creek Group pricing memo that explicitly states that they use the Democratic Party Database.
- C. FEC filing entry which shows that Ship Creek Group paid only once for data access, and they only paid $2,000 although the actual fee for statewide votebuilder access per campaign is $25,000.

Complaint 17-03-CD)

Forrest McDonald v. Alaska Democratic Party)

RESPONSE OF ALASKA DEMOCRATIC PARTY

1. The Alaska Democratic Party ("ADP") is in receipt of a complaint filed by Forrest McDonald. Mr. McDonald alleges that ADP improperly provided its voter file to candidates and consultants without charging those recipients a fee for the file.
2. As a threshold matter, the ADP pays all costs related to the development of its voter file from federal account that is regulated by the Federal Election Commission ("FEC"). In 2002, the FEC ruled that revenue received by a party committee for the sale or use of its list was not "contributions" as defined by federal law. FEC Advisory Opinion 2002-14. Accordingly, a state party may deposit all such revenues into its federal account, regardless of source or amount of the payment for the voter list. Therefore, the ADP deposits all revenue received for the use of its voter file from sources other than legislative candidates into its federal account and discloses all such activity on reports filed with the FEC. Payments from state legislative candidates for voter file access are deposited into the ADP's non-federal account and are part of those candidate's "buy in" to the ADP's coordinated campaign undertaken on behalf of the Democratic Party ticket.

3. House candidates pay $2,000 per election cycle and State Senate candidates pay $4,000 per election cycle. Municipal and local candidates may purchase VoteBuilder access for their district. If a candidate is not a registered Democrat, the sale of VoteBuilder is granted as per the ADP's VoteBuilder sales procedure established by the Executive Committee of the Alaska Democratic Party. The cost for access for a municipal or local candidate is based on the population in a candidate's district.
4. Any candidate who is provided access to VoteBuilder may grant access to their VoteBuilder account to volunteers, campaign staff, and consultants. All individual users granted access to VoteBuilder must sign an End User Agreement prior to gaining access to the file.
5. In response to Mr. McDonald's facts:
 - A. We agree VoteBuilder is proprietary to the Alaska Democratic Party.
 - B. Access to VoteBuilder for house and senate candidates is made available as one of the services provided by the Coordinated Campaign. As per the ADP VoteBuilder Pricing Policy, municipal and local candidates are not part of the Coordinated Campaign and may purchase access for their district to VoteBuilder.

Alaska Democratic Party Votebuilder Terms of Service Agreement

By using the Alaska Democratic Party's (ADP) Votebuilder, all users, purchasers, or other licensees agree and acknowledge the following:

The ADP will, at its discretion, grant access to candidates/campaigns that pay the required fee and agree to the terms of this Agreement. Being granted access to the Alaska Democratic Party Votebuilder does not constitute endorsement by the ADP.

The ADP strives to make Votebuilder the most accurate, up-to-date source of information on registered voters for users of the system. To this end the ADP, in conjunction with and assistance from the Democratic National Committee and authorized vendors, will take steps including: making regular updates to the voter registration information; posting early vote and absentee vote data to the file; address-correcting the data; periodically processing Votebuilder through the National Change of Address system; and appending phone numbers to Votebuilder. However, no amount of effort can eliminate every inaccuracy. The Licensee acknowledges and accepts that Votebuilder is provided "as is" and that the ADP shall in no circumstance be held liable for any harm incurred by the Licensee due to inaccuracies in Votebuilder.

License

The ADP provides Votebuilder to the Licensee for contacting voters, recruiting volunteers, managing data, and undertaking other activities directly related to the Licensee's election campaign. The Licensee acknowledges and accepts that s/he will be granted access to only that portion of Votebuilder encompassed by the district in which s/he is a candidate or conducting a campaign.

Access to Votebuilder is granted solely for the conduct of the Licensee's election campaign. The Licensee may not give, share, sell or in any other way make available access to Votebuilder to any other person or entity, including but not limited to candidate committees, issue committees, small donor committees, federal political committees, or any business of any kind. Any such entity desiring access to Votebuilder must contact the ADP directly.

The terms of this Agreement cover any and all access to Votebuilder by any individual user affiliated with the above-named Licensee's election campaign.

Pricing

The officers of the ADP have established a pricing schedule for candidate committee access to Votebuilder. This pricing schedule is intended to make Votebuilder affordable for candidates, taking into consideration the varying size of election districts and numbers of voters.

Usage

Votebuilder contains 1) Public data, 2) Private party data (ADP proprietary information) and 3) Private campaign-specific data.

Public data: includes but is not limited to the names and addresses of registered voters, their voter history, and their district information. The Licensee acknowledges that any changes s/he makes to Public data in the system, including phone numbers and mailing addresses, may be shared with other Licensees of Votebuilder.

Private party data: Some of the data included in Votebuilder is the private property of the ADP. This dataset includes historic Voter ID records and select other "Activist Codes" that have been procured and added to Votebuilder by the party itself.

Private campaign-specific data: Each Licensee also has the ability to store Private campaign-specific data in Votebuilder. The Private campaign-specific data includes "Activist Codes," "Volunteer Activities," "Events," "Survey Questions," and "Notes" that are gathered and entered by the campaign itself. This Private, campaign-specific data is not accessible by any other Licensee, unless the Licensee named above takes steps to share their Private data.

Because Votebuilder is intended for use by many candidates, significant harm may befall the ADP and other Licensees if inaccurate information is introduced to the system. Licensee agrees to exercise due diligence when making changes to Public information in Votebuilder. ADP acknowledges that honest mistakes can and will happen. However, Licensee agrees to contact ADP immediately if Licensee has reason to believe that any significant quantity of inaccurate Public or Private information has been introduced to Votebuilder. Any deliberate action by Licensee to introduce inaccurate information to Votebuilder shall be grounds for termination of this Agreement by the ADP. In this case, any price paid by the Licensee to the ADP shall not be refunded.

Data Reciprocity

Licensee acknowledges and agrees that the ADP may retain a copy of any Private data introduced to Votebuilder during the Licensee's campaign. The ADP may use this Private data to support candidates in future elections or to strengthen the Democratic Party at any level in Alaska. Specifically, the ADP may make candidate preference IDs (including but not limited to Activist Codes or Survey Questions) available to future ADP Votebuilder licensees in a personally identifiable fashion. For example, the ADP may make data such as "This voter was a strong supporter of Jane Smith for State Senate" or "This voter did not support John Doe for Governor" or similar data available to a future ADP Votebuilder licensee. All Campaign Specific Data will be converted into ADP Private historic data 30 days after the end of the general election for that campaign. Candidates/campaigns shall notify the ADP in writing before this time if they wish to request that campaign specific data not be made available to any future Licensees.

Votebuilder is not a static, one-way vehicle to distribute information. It is a dynamic and forward-thinking tool and users are expected to input and correct information about voters that is derived from campaign and organizing activities. Users will exercise due diligence and make good faith efforts to accurately and thoroughly enter data gathered from reports and lists generated from the ADP Votebuilder, including but not limited to: notes from walking and phoning lists; bad phone numbers identified by auto-call vendors; and returned mail pieces.

Training

Training on using Votebuilder is available by contacting the Alaska Democratic Party. Campaigns will be provided written training materials on Votebuilder's different databases. Organized group classes or sessions will be announced to licensees and authorized users. Personal one-on-one training appointments for campaign managers can be scheduled by contacting the Alaska Democratic Party.

Access

Votebuilder is a web-based system, accessible by any computer with a web browser and an Internet connection. Licensee acknowledges and accepts that full functionality of Votebuilder may not be available via older computers and/or via slower Internet connections. Google chrome is the best browser to operate Votebuilder.

Upon completion of this Agreement, the ADP shall assign to the Licensee one administrative account for the portion of Votebuilder encompassed by the district in which s/he is a candidate. To acquire additional User IDs for accessing the Votebuilder, the candidate or their designated "Campaign Votebuilder administrator" should make the request in writing or via email to the Alaska Democratic Party. The ADP reserves the right to require each individual user of Votebuilder to sign an individual user agreement.

Licensee agrees to exercise due diligence in making sure that passwords for user accounts affiliated with his/her election campaign are closely guarded. ADP reserves the right to suspend any user account affiliated with Licensee's election campaign if ADP has reason to believe that the security of that account has been compromised.

While accessing Votebuilder, Licensee may print paper lists, export data files, and otherwise extract copies of data from Votebuilder. Licensee agrees that any and all copies of ADP Votebuilder data shall be used solely for the purposes of his/her election campaign and that copies shall be destroyed as soon as they are no longer needed for those purposes.

Term

Contingent upon payment of fees by the designated deadlines, Votebuilder access will be in effect from the date of purchase and will be terminated 35 days after the date of the election. If a candidate that withdraws from the ballot or the coordinated campaign, Votebuilder access will be terminated immediately. The ADP may extend access to Votebuilder for a longer period following the election in cases where the election outcome is in doubt. Extensions of this term also may be made by mutual agreement between the ADP and the candidate seeking access.

Termination of Agreement

Licensee may terminate this Agreement by sending written notice to the ADP. In this case the Licensee shall destroy any and all copies of data extracted from Votebuilder immediately. If the Licensee chooses to terminate this Agreement, no amount of the price paid to the ADP shall be refunded.

In the event of material breach of this agreement by Licensee, ADP will notify Licensee and request that Licensee correct the breach. If Licensee has not corrected the breach to the satisfaction of the ADP within seven days, then this agreement will terminate immediately, and Licensee will destroy all copies of the information in Licensee's possession, and Licensee shall be liable for any damages sustained by ADP due to the breach. Whenever the monetary damages to the ADP and the Licensee are impossible to calculate, the ADP and the Licensee agree that the Licensee shall be liable for liquidated damages in the amount of $2000.

Copyright

Licensee acknowledges that Votebuilder is a copyrighted compilation and is property of the ADP. No right to redistribute or to make copies or derivatives of the portion of Votebuilder accessed by the Licensee is granted except for activities directly related to the Licensee's election campaign.

The invalidity or unenforceability of any particular provision of this Agreement shall not affect the other provisions hereof, and this Agreement shall be construed in all respects as if such invalid or unenforceable provisions were omitted.

Alaska Democratic Party
Voter File User Agreement

To fulfill its mission to elect Democrats to public office, the Alaska Democratic Party (ADP) maintains an online Voter File ("Votebuilder") under agreement with the Democratic National Committee (DNC).

The ADP strives to make the ADP Voter File the most accurate and up-to-date source of information on registered voters for users of the system. To this end, the ADP will make periodic updates and enhancements to the Voter File. However, no amount of effort can eliminate every inaccuracy. The user acknowledges and accepts that the ADP Voter File is provided "as is" and that the ADP shall under no circumstances be held liable for any harm incurred by the user due to inaccuracies in the ADP Voter File.

Voter File User Agreement

While accessing and using the ADP Voter File, users agree to the following:

1. Each user shall log in with their own personal account and no one shall ever access the system through a generic user account.
2. User agrees to keep passwords secret and understand that ADP reserves the right to suspend any user account that ADP has reason to believe has been compromised or presents a threat to the security of the system.
3. User agrees to exercise caution and due diligence when making changes to the Voter File to protect against any inaccurate data entering the system.
4. User agrees that the ADP Voter File is the sole property of the ADP and shall not sell, swap, share, rent or in any way disseminate data from the ADP Voter File without express prior approval from the ADP.
5. Due to federal and state election laws, as well as the value of the Voter File to Democratic campaigns, User agrees to use the Voter File only for the purposes related to their candidate's or committee's campaign, and not or for any other non-authorized use.

Termination of Use

User understands that any violation of this agreement may be grounds for termination of access to the ADP Voter File and the Votebuilder system. User also understands that ADP reserves the right to terminate or alter access for any reason at any time.

Upon completion of this Agreement, the ADP shall assign to the Licensee one administrative account for the portion of Votebuilder encompassed by the district in which s/he is a candidate. To acquire additional User IDs for accessing the Votebuilder, the candidate or their designated "Campaign Votebuilder administrator" should make the request in writing or via email to the Alaska Democratic Party. The ADP reserves the right to require each individual user of Votebuilder to sign an individual user agreement.

Licensee agrees to exercise due diligence in making sure that passwords for user accounts affiliated with his/her election campaign are closely guarded. ADP reserves the right to suspend any user account affiliated with Licensee's election campaign if ADP has reason to believe that the security of that account has been compromised.

While accessing Votebuilder, Licensee may print paper lists, export data files, and otherwise extract copies of data from Votebuilder. Licensee agrees that any and all copies of ADP Votebuilder data shall be used solely for the purposes of his/her election campaign and that copies shall be destroyed as soon as they are no longer needed for those purposes.

Term

Contingent upon payment of fees by the designated deadlines, Votebuilder access will be in effect from the date of purchase and will be terminated 35 days after the date of the election. If a candidate that withdraws from the ballot or the coordinated campaign, Votebuilder access will be terminated immediately. The ADP may extend access to Votebuilder for a longer period following the election in cases where the election outcome is in doubt. Extensions of this term also may be made by mutual agreement between the ADP and the candidate seeking access.

Termination of Agreement

Licensee may terminate this Agreement by sending written notice to the ADP. In this case the Licensee shall destroy any and all copies of data extracted from Votebuilder immediately. If the Licensee chooses to terminate this Agreement, no amount of the price paid to the ADP shall be refunded.

In the event of material breach of this agreement by Licensee, ADP will notify Licensee and request that Licensee correct the breach. If Licensee has not corrected the breach to the satisfaction of the ADP within seven days, then this agreement will terminate immediately, and Licensee will destroy all copies of the information in Licensee's possession, and Licensee shall be liable for any damages sustained by ADP due to the breach. Whenever the monetary damages to the ADP and the Licensee are impossible to calculate, the ADP and the Licensee agree that the Licensee shall be liable for liquidated damages in the amount of $2000.

Responses: (my comments in bold)

1. Did Ship Creek Group purchase or otherwise have access to Votebuilder data for the districts of the following candidates during the 2016 election cycle:

Delena Johnson - No

Gary Knopp - No

Jason Grenn - No

John Weddleton - Yes

2. If Ship Creek Group did have access to Votebuilder data for the district of any candidate listed above, please explain in detail how access was obtained.

- While developing campaign products and services for the 2016 elections cycle in 2015, Ship Creek Group (hereafter SCG) considered and approached multiple potential sources of political data/data management, including the Alaska Democratic Party (hereafter ADP). ADP communicated that other political consultants/vendors had previously purchased Votebuilder access for various projects/purposes, subject to ADP's internal regulations and approval mechanisms. SCG and ADP verbally agreed that SCG could potentially purchase Votebuilder access from ADP on an as needed basis, each transaction at the discretion of ADP and usage subject to ADP requirements. ADP later confirmed SCG could not purchase Votebuilder access for use related to legislative races, as this would conflict with the ADP's Coordinated Campaign service offered to legislative candidates. In the autumn of 2015, SCG requested, was approved, and proceeded to purchase Votebuilder access for Assembly District 6 at market value.

3. For any candidate listed above that Ship Creek Group did not have access to district Votebuilder data: (Based on my answers above, I am determining that this question refers to Johnson, Knopp, and Grenn, but please clarify if I misunderstand)

Did the candidate give you any instructions concerning the use of Votebuilder data - Acknowledging that "any instructions" is somewhat vague, in general: we did not discuss Votebuilder access with Knopp or Johnson. Jason Grenn was offered the opportunity to buy into the Coordinated Campaign late in the campaign cycle, and Jason and I discussed this offer. The campaign rejected the offer to buy into the Coordinated Campaign. To my knowledge, neither SCG nor Jason Grenn's campaign had Votebuilder access for District 22 at any point during the duration of the campaign.

In general, candidates did not instruct SCG on usage of Votebuilder data.

Did Ship Creek Group use another source of data for purposes of creating mailing lists and or door knocking lists? - SCG routinely used multiple sources of data for the purposes of creating mailing/door knocking lists, including: Google Maps, the State of Alaska voter file as made available for purchase by the Division of Elections, data provided by the Alaska Republican Party to specific candidates, the USPS EDDM product, old lists retained by candidates who had run in previous cycles, data made publicly available by APOC, etc...

4. Did Ship Creek Group ever receive Votebuilder data for any district for free or for less than fair market value? - No

5. If Ship Creek Group purchased or otherwise was granted access to a district's Votebuilder data by a candidate who purchased it, was it required to sign any document restricting its use? - I can recall at various times signing documents that restricted Votebuilder usage, when being granted the ability to use Votebuilder on behalf of various candidates who had purchased access. I do not recall with certainty whether this happened in every instance and given my limited access to internet right now I do not currently have the ability to confirm. I also do not have reason to believe that this did not happen.

 (As a side note, many of your questions refer to access/use of "Votebuilder data". I'll observe that Votebuilder is both a database, comprised largely of aggregated data from public sources, and also a data mangement system. Data management systems, such as Votebuilder, i-360, Google Sheets etc... are tools that political consultants can use to coordinate some campaign operations, similar to how a video camera is a tool that a political consultant can use to produce a tv ad. From SCG's perspective, the primary utility of votebuilder for campaign management purposes is not the data itself, but the data management functionality that Votebuilder provides. Critical voter data can be obtained in a variety of ways, Votebuilder uniquely offered a data mangement tool with which SCG staff were familiar and with superior functionality to other available sources.) *****

Hope this helps,

Jh

Tom, thanks for reaching out. Reading your questions I can understand why Paula would have had a hard time answering these, as she did not deal with these areas of the business. I would like to get you a thorough set of answers, but I am currently backpacking in Uganda and have extremely limited access to Internet (please confirm you even get this message)

Is a deadline of next Monday ok for your purposes? I will try to get you something by end of week. Let me know if this will not work, I just wanted to get you a quick response so you knew I wasn't ignoring you. Thanks for your understanding!

Mr Lucas,

Prior to reading about the complaint being filed I have never heard of or had any knowledge of a data base named votebuilder. I wasn't even aware one even existed and clearly was never given access to any data base from the Ship Creek Group. Any voter information that my campaign received was purchased directly from the division of elections. Please feel free to call should you have any questions or need further information.

Hi Thomas,

sorry for the delay in getting back to you. I received your voicemail but wanted to respond in writing.

I 100% deny the allegations that my campaign for State house in 2016 used information from the campaign builder database. I cannot give a stronger denial regarding the accusation. The accusation is completely false.

If you need any follow up answers, please feel free to email or call me again.

Have a great weekend, Jason Grenn

Tom,
The $2000 payment to the Democratic Party was for my access to Votebuilder and the coordinated campaign. I will amend my final report to reflect this instead of as a donation as was previously listed.
Thank you.

Rep Adam Wool

District 5 Fairbanks

Alaska State Capitol #412

Representative Wool,

I have been assigned to investigate a complaint filed by Forrest McDonald against the Alaska Democratic Party. In the Complaint, Mr. McDonald alleges that Your 2016 campaign had access to the Party's Votebuilder data service through your consultant, Ship Creek Group. The Party tells me that you participated in the coordinated campaign and that shows on the Party's APOC reports. But, on your final report you only show a $2,000 donation to the Party. My question is, was that actually to pay for the coordinated campaign? If so, you should amend your final report to show that the February 1 $2,000 donation was actually payment for the coordinated campaign.

I would appreciate it if you could confirm or deny the allegation in a reply to this email; and also let me know if you participated in the coordinated campaign.

Thank you. If you have any questions or desire further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

I contracted with SCG to provide a full menu of campaign management services including database management. The main program I used was Votebuilder. I am not aware of the arrangement SCG had with ADP for use of the program.

Thanks for checking.

Subject: APOC Complaint 17-03-CD

Assemblyman Weddleton,

I have been assigned to investigate a complaint filed by Forrest McDonald against the Alaska Democratic Party. In the Complaint, Mr. McDonald alleges that Your 2016 campaign had access to the Party's Votebuilder data service through your consultant, Ship Creek Group. I have been told by the Party that you purchased access through your consultants, Ship Creek Group.

I would appreciate it if you could confirm or deny that access to Votebuilder was purchased on your behalf by Ship Creek Group.

Thank You. If you have any questions or desire further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.
