Representative Kevin McCabe's Optima Slush Fund

A Calculated Evasion of AS 15.13.040 and 2 AAC 50.321(d)

December 31, 2024

I'm writing because yesterday's Must Read Alaska article about Rep. McCabe's campaign finance practices really got under my skin. What started as a simple question about some unreported Facebook ads has turned into something a lot bigger - and Must Read Alaska's attempt to brush it all under the rug just made it worse.

Here's what's got me worked up: Must Read Alaska actually tried to defend McCabe by writing that he "turned over all his digital advertising to Optima Public Relations and paid the company $16,825, all of which is declared on his APOC filings." Then they had the nerve to claim "This is a normal process for many campaigns." Well, it's not normal, and it's not legal either.

This morning (12/31/2024), during the APOC hearing, McCabe himself admitted that he was planning to hold off reporting these expenses until February 2025. He tried to claim this was both legal and common practice. It's neither, and he should know better - he's been through three campaigns now.

Let me be clear about the law here. Alaska Statutes 15.13.040, 15.13.110, and Alaska Administrative Code 2 AAC 50.321(d) spell it out plain as day: candidates have to report ALL expenditures, including everything that goes through PR firms or consultants. They can't just dump money into Optima PR and call it good.

Tom Lucas, your Campaign Disclosure Coordinator, sent out crystal clear instructions about this back on July 22, 2020. Every candidate got that email explaining exactly how to report these kinds of expenses. McCabe got it too, but he's been ignoring those rules since day one.

Let's look at McCabe's pattern here:

- December 31, 2019: Hires Optima PR for various services but doesn't properly break down how the money was spent
- March 19, 2020: $2,000 to Optima PR for "graphics and digital advertising" - no proper breakdown
- July/October 2024: $2,061 to Republican Ads, LLC - again, no proper details

- October 29, 2024: $16,825 to Optima PR for "comprehensive campaign services" - still no proper breakdown

All told, that's about $34,061.55 in campaign money that's disappeared into what I'm calling the Optima PR slush fund. And now Must Read Alaska is trying to tell us this is just business as usual? That's not right.

What's really got me steamed is that McCabe's using the "everybody does it" excuse. We teach our kids that's not a valid excuse, and it sure shouldn't fly for an elected official. Plus, I've looked at his February campaign closure reports from 2021 and 2023 - they don't back up his claim that this is his normal practice at all.

What's even worse is how Must Read Alaska's article, by trying to normalize this kind of lawlessness, is setting up other politicians to fall into the same trap. By claiming 'This is a normal process for many campaigns,' they're encouraging more campaign finance violations and inviting the APOC complaints that will inevitably follow. Every politician who reads their article and follows McCabe's example of using Optima PR or similar firms as a convenient cash stash is walking right into trouble. Kevin McCabe isn't just breaking the law – with Must Read Alaska's help, he's making it harder to recruit and keep good candidates who want to serve Alaska the right way.

And who's going to want to run for office when they see how messy this gets? The irony here is outrageous. Kevin McCabe has spent five years developing a pattern of breaking campaign finance laws and gaining unfair advantages over his opponents. Instead of playing by the rules and disclosing his expenditures in a lawful and timely manner, he's perfected his shell game with Optima PR. Now Must Read Alaska, in their calculated attempt to protect him, is actually drawing more attention to these violations and forcing an investigation. By trying to normalize and legitimize McCabe's unlawful manipulation of campaign finance laws, they're setting conservatives and republicans up for a fall and making it even harder to find good people willing to serve in the Legislature.

Let's talk about timing here, because something doesn't add up. McCabe dumps $16,825 into Optima PR on October 29, 2024, just seven days before the November 5 election. Anyone who's worked campaigns knows this timing is fishy. Facebook had already locked down new political ads that very day. Print media deadlines for election ads would have long passed. Even if Optima PR has some kind of miracle workers on staff, securing radio, TV, and streaming ad slots that late in the game - during the most competitive ad-buying period in four years - would be nearly impossible. And direct mail? To hit mailboxes before Election Day, those letters would have needed to be designed, printed, and in the mail system almost immediately. So we've got to ask ourselves: How could Optima possibly spend nearly $17,000 effectively in those final days?

These questions wouldn't need to be asked if McCabe had just followed the law and reported his expenditures properly and on time. But his deliberate lack of transparency forced me to dig deeper. If Must Read Alaska hadn't tried to normalize his behavior in their December 30 article, and if McCabe hadn't tried to defend his actions in his December 31 APOC testimony by claiming 'everybody does it,' this pattern might have stayed hidden. Instead, McCabe's arrogance has drawn attention to what could be years of similar violations by other politicians following his example.

The real damage here goes beyond just one campaign or one election. Every time McCabe got away with hiding his spending through Optima PR, his law-abiding opponents were forced to campaign with one hand tied behind their backs. And now, by dragging his scheme into the spotlight and trying to defend it, he's put every other politician who's been following his playbook at risk of similar scrutiny. If APOC doesn't investigate this thoroughly and penalize these violations to the full extent of the law, what message does that send? It tells every candidate in Alaska that our campaign finance laws are optional, that transparency is negotiable, and that playing by the rules is for suckers.

APOC Commissioners, I encourage you to thoroughly investigate Kevin McCabe's campaign finance practices. His pattern of violations includes:

- Deliberately hiding campaign expenditures through Optima PR and similar firms
- Intentionally delaying expense reporting until after elections
- Refusing to provide legally required breakdowns of how money is spent
- Using vague descriptions to mask the true nature of campaign spending
- Making suspiciously timed large payments that defy practical campaign execution
- Repeatedly ignoring APOC's clear guidance on reporting requirements

These violations have directly harmed Alaskans by:

- Denying voters accurate information about campaign spending during elections
- Robbing opposing candidates and voters of fair elections
- Making a mockery of Alaska's campaign finance transparency laws
- Preserving the uneven playing field that Kevin McCabe has established in House District 30

- Undermining public trust in our electoral process
- Setting a dangerous example for other candidates to follow

If APOC fails to fully investigate and hold Kevin McCabe accountable:

- Other politicians will continue hiding campaign spending in similar schemes
- Voters will become disenfranchised and disengage from an electoral process that no longer guarantees fair elections
- Future candidates will be emboldened to run corrupt campaigns
- House District 30 voters will continue to be denied fair elections
- Campaign finance transparency will become irrelevant as more candidates follow McCabe's example
- The public's right to know how campaign money is spent will be permanently damaged

I urge you to conduct a complete investigation into every aspect of McCabe's campaign financing over the past five years. Examine every payment to Optima PR and similar firms. Demand detailed breakdowns of how money was spent. Investigate the timing of expenditures versus services rendered. Most importantly, enforce our campaign finance laws to their fullest extent to protect the integrity of Alaska's elections.

Subject: Reporting services from advertising agencies, campaign management consultants and campaign management services

Dear Candidates and their Treasurers,

We are receiving many inquiries concerning insufficient detail in campaign disclosure reports when reporting expenditures for advertising agencies, management consultants and other campaign management services. Simply stating “campaign advertising” or “management consultant”, for example is not consistent with the following regulation found at 2 AAC 50.321\(d\):

d) If an expenditure required to be reported under (a) or (b) or this section is made to an advertising agency or to an individual or business that provides campaign consultation or management services, the report must disclose in detail all services rendered, including the name of each business from which campaign goods or services were purchased or subcontracted or media advertising placed, and the amount of the expenditure.

Basically, what this means is that the services provided must be disclosed along with any subcontractors used by the consultant, agency or service. An example might be, “Tom’s consulting service for creation and placing of social media on Facebook and Twitter” or Tom’s consulting service for production and placement of radio and tv advertising on stations x, y and z”.

If your campaign has not been doing this, your 30 day report should be amended to come into compliance. If you have any questions or desire any help in doing so, please do not hesitate to contact our office.

AK Public Offices Commission has New Year's Eve meeting on complaint against Big Lake lawmaker

By Suzanne Downing - December 30, 2024

A special meeting of the Alaska Public Offices Commission is scheduled for New Year's Eve to take up the complaint of a political critic of Republican Rep. Kevin McCabe of Big Lake.

APOC is the agency tasked with ensuring that campaign finance laws and regulations are adhered to by candidates.

The complaint by Republican Michael Alexander says that McCabe has unresolved campaign finance violations relating to digital advertising. The complaint is lengthy and has numerous items that Alexander says are proof that not all of McCabe's digital advertising during his campaign for reelection were disclosed to APOC.

But McCabe has a defense: He turned over all his digital advertising to Optima Public Relations and paid the company $16,825, all of which is declared on his APOC filings. This is a normal process for many campaigns.

McCabe and Alexander have some history. McCabe had his own APOC complaint already filed against Alexander for putting small signs pointing at McCabe's campaign signs. Those small signs said "PFD Thief" on them, and were allegedly placed there by Alexander, who did not form up a legal independent expenditure group before having them printed and installed alongside McCabe's signs.

McCabe also supported Rep.-elect Jubilee Underwood in her successful challenge to Rep. David Eastman in 2024; Alexander is a supporter of Eastman.

Why APOC is scheduling an expedited hearing on New Year's Eve, with only 24 hours notice, is one of the mysteries of the agency, which has a history of fining Republicans, while allowing Democrats to skate.

The meeting will be held Dec. 31, at 10:00 a.m. APOC describes it as a meeting to "consider a request for expedited consideration of Complaint 24-12-CD, Michael Alexander v. Kevin McCabe. Under 2 AAC 50.888, if the Commission grants expedited consideration, a hearing on the merits of the complaint may immediately follow."
