GIS in Public Safety -- Lessons learned in New York State and Beyond

Please join State of Alaska's Geospatial Information Officer (GIO) Leslie Jones and her guest, Bill Johnson, for a very special webinar on the value of GIS for public safety. Bill spent 31 years as a GIS professional in the State of New York, culminating in being named their first GIO in 2013. In this webinar, Leslie will be interviewing Bill about his experiences in New York as well as what he sees happening across the country through his current role with Applied Geographics, Inc (AppGeo). Bill will share examples of applying GIS across the public safety spectrum and offer his perspective on the path forward with NG9-1-1. We'll have plenty of time for your questions, so come prepared to ask and learn!

As we prepare, please share issues and questions you would like to see included in the webinar. We can't promise to include everything, but we want this to be as broadly useful to our gathered group as possible.

Send your questions to Leslie Jones (leslie.jones2@alaska.gov) by COB Wednesday, November 11.
