AMENDMENT 2

NOTE: it is the proposer's responsibility to review and accept all amendments to this solicitation.

Questions submitted by potential offerors and answers from the state:

Question 1: Will the State of Alaska entertain proposals from companies whose headquarters are outside of the USA? There is an extremely high likelihood that those U.S. tax dollars would leave our borders and go to the country where the company is headquartered. It appears that this would be tax dollars of the USA going to another country with no expectation of return.

Answer: An interested vendor headquartered outside the United States would be required to submit an email to the Procurement Officer of Record, stating the vendor's status as being headquartered outside of the United States and request that the State accept proposal submission for evaluation. The procurement officer of record would then submit a waiver request to the Alaska Department of Administration, providing description of the solicitation and why it's in the State's best interest to allow soliciting vendors outside of the United States. Final determination would depend on approval or denial of the waiver.
