

A satellite image of a river delta system, likely the Yukon River delta. The image shows a complex network of channels and distributaries. A white callout box with a red background and white text points to a specific location in the delta. Below the callout, red text provides the coordinates for that location. The surrounding land is a mix of green vegetation and brownish-grey sediment deposits.

Anchor / Bouy

(59.07088N, -153.77964W)

(59.07088N, -153.77964W)