

A photograph of a snowy forest with two distinct trails. The left trail is wider and has more visible tracks, while the right trail is narrower and appears to be a newer path. A person is sitting on a sled on the right trail. The trees are bare and thin, and the ground is covered in a thick layer of snow.

Original Trail-
West End

New Trail-
West End