Protest Response: The State received a protest of the content of the solicitation under AS 36.30.560. The grounds for protest, in summary, concerned what the protester characterized as impermissibly vague specifications which made developing a proposal impossible. The state denied the protest on all grounds, opining that the RFP provides sufficient details and information based on a performance specification for offerors to develop technical and cost proposals.

In order to provide all interested parties with sufficient time to review the RFP and amendments, the state Extended the deadline for submissions to May 8, 2026."
