

An aerial photograph of an industrial or agricultural site. A large, irregular area in the center is outlined in red. To the left of this area is a large, light-colored, irregularly shaped mound or pile of material. To the right and above the red-outlined area are several buildings, some with blue roofs, and various structures. A road or path runs horizontally across the top of the red-outlined area. A north arrow is located in the bottom right corner of the image.
